No vote a rejection of leaders

The result of last Monday's referendum means more than a simple rejection of the Charlottetown Accord. It signals a lack of confidence in the country's political leaders, says Barry Devolin.

The deal, which was engineered by the Prime Minister and provincial Premiers, was approved by voters in only three provinces. Canada-wide, 54 per cent of the voters rejected the deal. And in Haliburton County 57 per cent said no.

The vote clearly shows there is a gulf between the public and the established elites, says Devolin, who led the local debate against the deal in the lead-up to the referendum. The media and the politicians exist in a closed circle, "distanced from the people at the Brown Owl, the Kozy Komer or the Legion."

Although he had openly hoped for a sweeping No vote in the referendum, Devolin says the results are not a victory for anyone. Instead, he said it was a necessary exercise which demonstrated that politicians are out of touch. "People kept telling them to concentrate on the economy . . . they have to listen now."

The reality of last Monday's result is a constitutional moratorium, he says. The country's leaders face "political wrath" if constitutional wrangling resurfaces in the near future, says Devolin, who will lead the local Reform Party in the next federal election.

Prior to the vote, Devolin said he felt confident that at least one province would reject the accord. He said it was difficult to get a reading of how the vote might go since a referendum is different from an election.

Devolin says the virtual tie in Ontario was the biggest surprise, since polls showed the Yes side with 70 per cent of the support at the outset of the campaign. This result shows a lack of confidence in Premier Bob Rae, says Devolin. "It shows he's not trusted."

In fact, Devolin said much of Monday's rejection is owed to the support their political leaders provided. The Yes campaign made people feel they were being conned and cheated by their leaders, says Devolin.

Devolin was in Winnipeg the week before the referendum, where the Yes campaign plastered the city with posters and billboards. Devolin said he was told by a taxi driver that every time he saw one of those posters he felt angry about the waste of tax dollars. Although the posters were not paid for with public funds, the taxi driver's anger underscores the negative influence the government's support had on the Yes campaign.

Although Canadians rejected the accord as a whole, many of the elements contained in the package can still be achieved through political means, says Devolin. "Many of the positive elements of the accord don't need constitutional endorsement," he says. The inherent right to self government of Canada's aboriginal peoples, for example, can be still be achieved outside of the constitution. "We can solve a lot of these things without tinkering with the constitution. All these things are possible within parliament."

Coby businesses worry about sewer costs

Hook up fee has increased by more than 350 per cent since over initial estimate

by Jerry Grozelle

The cost of the new sewer system in Coboconk has the village's businesses worried about their ability to pay for this new service.

Jim Hannivan and a delegation of concerned business representatives addressed Somerville Council on October 26. Hannivan told Council that the 18 businesses in Coboconk are unable to absorb the extra costs since the project has exceeded the original estimate by more than three and a half times.

"We were told early on that it would cost the businesses three to four thousand dollars," said Hannivan, who represented the businesses. "Now they're telling us it is going to cost $6,152. That will just blow us apart."

Hannivan wanted to know how the figure of $6,152 was arrived at. "There was no survey of the businesses," he said. "Nobody came and measured the floor space or did a head count of employees."

Residential sewer hook-up costs have also taken a dramatic hike. The early estimate for residential use was $1,500. However, that has since climbed to $4,172.

The Ontario government is funding 85 per cent of the sewer project in Coboconk which leaves the two townships with a bill of $788,000. This is the figure the users of the system will have to pay. It is divided up among the 18 businesses and more than 100 residences that will have to be connected.

The business spokesman said the system is unfair since some of businesses use less water than most residences. Some businesses have only a few employees and the buildings are only occupied during business hours. As an example, he cited one business that is only open for six months of the year and the owners are out of the country for the remainder of the year.

Councillor Clayton Cameron, who was on council when the original study and formula for payment was prepared, said the fairest way council could deal with the situation at the time was to divide the cost in the same manner that tax assessments were handled.

Taxes are calculated for businesses at 150 per cent of residential assessments. He pointed out that the original proposal by the consulting engineers would have seen some Coboconk businesses paying nearly five times the $6,152 figure.

Cameron said council didn't think that was fair so the consultant's recommendations were scrapped in favour of the current formula.

The sewer project was initiated when most of the wells in Coboconk were found to be contaminated. The top layer of ground was saturated by effluent from septic systems and bacteria was leaching into the ground-water supply for the wells.

Before Hannivan began his presentation, Reeve John Huke gave some background on the sewer project. The Ministry of Environment recommended that a sewer system be installed as a method of rectifying the problem. Huke indicated that ministry guidelines are practically carved in stone. "They are either black or white, there is no grey," Huke said.

Board plans to woo Cardiff kids

Action plan aimed at keeping students in the system

by Andy Holloway

The Haliburton County Board of Education has accepted an action plan to entice Cardiff students to Haliburton's high school.

The board wants to reduce tuition fees for Haliburton students who attend North Hastings Secondary School. For the 1992 budget, the board spent $650,000 on tuition payments to other education boards, a 16 per cent increase from the previous year. At two public meetings held in June to discuss the budget, the board received some criticism at the high cost of tuition payments.

An ad hoc committee was formed to tackle the issue and presented a four-point plan designed to make students and parents more attracted to HHSS.

"The members on the committee all feel we have to give service to that portion of Haliburton County," said Cardiff trustee and committee chairman Lloyd Griffiths.

The establishment of a late bus to the Cardiff area would allow students to get the full use of HHSS's facilities like the library said Griffiths. At the start of the school year, the board instituted express bus service to and from Cardiff and it has been successful.

"Right now there 10 to 12 students using the bus and it's running quite well so I've heard," said business administrator Jim Bradley.

The main problem with the late bus is leaving students unattended. Bradley said the bus driver would have to be told to wait until students had been picked up.

At the meeting, Northernways Transit Limited's bid of about $23,000 for the Cardiff route was approved.

The board wants to enhance the relationship between Cardiff and other county schools by combining school trips for elementary students from the outlying schools, Gooderham, Cardiff and Wilberforce elementary schools, with inner county schools like J.D. Hodgson, exchanging school newsletters and expanding cooperative activities like sports among the three outlying schools.

As well as improving relationships among the three outlying schools, the board wants to make Cardiff students more aware of the high school. Some of the ways include informing students at Cardiff of activities and accomplishments at HHSS highlighting former Cardiff students and having students visit HHSS for some events. Two weeks ago, Cardiff students were supposed to watch the Redmen football doubleheader, but Bradley said the principal pulled the plug on the trip because of some misbehavior at the elementary school.

Most of the plans are low-cost, but Bradley said money will have to be spent upgrading computers at the school for the next five years to keep up with other areas.

Enrolment bulge worries trustees

by Andy Holloway

Final enrolment figures for the school year showing a 6.2 per cent increase in students at the elementary school level are creating concern among trustees about the board's ability to absorb the students at all levels.

Sherborne trustee John Munro said if current trends continue there will be more than 1,000 students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School by the year 2001 and therefore the new addition to the school may be "inadequate".

Enrollment at Archie Stouffer jumped nearly six per cent (to 640.5 students) over last year and has been rising steadily since 1985.

"Probably what we're looking at 10 years down the road is a new building," said Lutterworth trustee Cheryl Murdoch.

Education director Brad Saunders said he is optimistic that the Ontario government will give the board some financial aid to help with extra costs as the bulge moves through the system. However, there will be tremendous pressure on the high school if all the elementary students now in the system move to the high school said Saunders.

"We're doing our level best to marry up financial concerns with quality of education," said Saunders.

"You can add portable classrooms, but you can't add shops, gymnasiums and you can't add cafeterias and washrooms."

Enrollment at the kindergarten level has dropped and with the county's flat-line birth rate, Saunders said the strain may not be as severe as at other area schools like I.E. Weldon who have been forced to add portable classrooms.

However, Munro said the county is experiencing a growth in the number of people moving here and that might overcome the low birth rate.

The September enrollment figures are important to the board because the education ministry uses the figures to calculate 40 per cent of the board's grant. June enrollment figures account for another 40 per cent while January figures are the basis used for 30 per cent of the grant.

The auditorium was packed with kids and parents on October 25 as Rick Scott entertained the lively audience in the first event of Haliburton Highlands Children's Concert Series. One of the highlights of the show was Scott's rap tribute to Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. The "Yo! Mo!" lyrics were being sung by kids throughout the area all last week. The huge audience at the first of four concerts is evidence the series is more popular than ever. A new feature is the series T-shirts bearing an emblem designed by Juliann Dunn and Kimberly Varty.

Trustee angered by program delay

The following items were discussed at the monthly Board of Education meeting last Tuesday.

No bid wars

Only one firm put in a bid for new windows at Cardiff Elementary School and doors at Gooderham Elementary School despite the fact Business Administrator Jim Bradley personally contacted several firms in Haliburton. Bradley told the board that Alwind Industries was the only company to submit a bid because it also a supplier. Haliburton companies are in effect competing against their supplier said Bradley and therefore probably did not submit bids because they knew they would lose. The total of the two bids was about $44,000.

Wee care

The board had a heated discussion concerning a proposal by Marie Hodgson of Wee Care to establish an after hours care program for students between the ages of 8 and 12. Dysart trustee Leonard Salvatori asked why the board's management committee did not accept the proposal (at last month's meeting the committee had a tie vote on the proposal). Committee members said they did not have enough information to accept the care program, but would hold another vote at their next meeting when it is expected the missing information will be presented. Stanhope trustee Leroy Eager said Hodgson's expectations were too great. Similar programs have had success in Peterborough and one is currently operating at CHACE Place in Minden.

Heart and stroke

Haliburton's branch of the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario will be allowed to use the high school for a morning walking program. The program will be for a trial period of two months and be reviewed in the new year. However, Minden trustee Wally Bunn said the principal of the school should be given a list of the walkers because "there are some people that we might not want in the school."

Cardiff trustee Lloyd Griffiths said the majority of the walkers will be people who are serious about their health, but that even the foundation does not know who will use the program.

"Right now, the chapter doesn't have the faintest idea how many people will use it," said Griffiths who added that there are no malls for these people to walk in as in larger centres.

Trustee resigns

The board is now missing a member. After 10 months on the job, Gayle Murphy, a trustee for Bicroft/Cardiff area, has resigned due to health problems. Murphy stated in a letter to the board that her doctor had advised her to seriously consider her participation on the board, but that she had hoped to continue with alterations to her schedule. However, Murphy stated the alterations were not "as beneficial as anticipated" and so she was forced to resign. The board accepted the resignation with regret.

Devilish Fun

This little devil peers through the cobwebs at the entrance to the CHACE resource centre in Minden. CHACE was a spooky place last Wednesday as dozens of costumed kids (and parents) turned out to the early Halloween party.

Hot product melts cold market

Entrepreneur takes the frost out of your pipes with self-regulating heated water line

by Andy Holloway

It's early on a mid-January morning. The warm glow of Christmas has long since past and Everest-sized icicles are threatening to impale you each time you dare step in or out of the house.

Grudgingly and with great self-will, you wake, go to the bathroom and as you turn on the faucet you hear a low, loud shudder. There will be no shower today, your pipes have burst because the water in them froze overnight.

Living well north of the equator and in a rural area, burst or frozen pipes are a common hazard and people accept plumber's fees without question. Haliburton resident Lorne Heise, though, says he has a better answer - Heat-Line. Created, marketed and in the future, possibly produced in Haliburton County, Heat-Line is burning up the Canadian market place.

The development of Heat-Line reads like a made for television Canadian success story. In just four short years, the product has gone from being an idea to a company with potential sales in the millions.

Based on an incredibly simplistic concept, it is a wonder no one thought of it before. Using conductive polymer technology, Heat-Line is a temperature sensitive self-regulating cable that is inserted into the water pipes.

"My idea was that the colder the weather got, the hotter the wire got," says Heise. "As the weather warms, the wire's temperature drops."

The idea for the product first started germinating in Heise's head in the mid-1980s. As a contractor, he owned and operated Carnarvon Electric, he began receiving more calls about frozen or burst pipes when more people started using their cottage all year-round. With well over 200,000 cottages in Ontario alone, there's a big ready-made market for a device that prevents freezing water pipes.

In 1988, Heise and his wife Robin set up a research and development company to refine his product. Two years later Heat-Line was being marketed, primarily in Ontario, and since then sales have grown by 300 per cent each year and have reached every part of the country says Heise.

At first, Heise says he thought the product was a bust because it failed to work in 20 feet of exposed pipe overhanging a bluff - he had not thought of insulation because in traditional heating systems the pipes would burn out when it got warm. However, over-heating is not a problem with the automatic regulation of Heat-Line and while that costs more, Heise says it's worth it.

While you pay more for Heat-Line than other products, savings come in reduced power usage and easier installation.

"The benefit is that your pay-back time is less. I think it's safe to say that pay-back is in one to three months."

At his Lindsay plant, Heise employs six people all of whom have some say in the product's development. If everyone is kept informed and has input says Heise it "spawns new ideas" as well as making sure the old ideas are running smoothly. As well, even more jobs are created in the resale of the product.

The move to Lindsay was based on economics - it's a larger locale with plenty of empty buildings - and also because it is fairly close to the Heise's home on Kushog Lake.

"We didn't know what would happen in Lindsay, but it was always our intention to come back," says Heise.

Not that the rise in popularity of Heat-Line has come without some hardships and hassles along the way. Without the boost of some key people, Heise says the climb would have been much more difficult. One such person was Andy Campbell who steered Heise in the direction of the National Research Council of Canada (NRC) who Heise says have an "unbelievable" amount of knowledge. The NRC helped Heise get the information he needed to make sure his product was viable and also supplied the only financial assistance from the government. Two NRC grants totaling just $6,800 were given to Heise to cover such things as building a prototype model of Heat-Line.

Another local resident, Roger Smallwood from West Guilford, is the marketing manager for the company. Smallwood is responsible for suggesting the company concentrate on the Ontario market first before moving into the national or international market. Now, Heat-Line is being sold in all provinces and territories and serious interest is coming from companies south of the border.

There has also been some interest from others who would like to see Heat-Line produced in their communities and some of them have made some powerful offers. However, despite the offers Heise has received, he says the company will stay in the area.

"We can go to Parry Sound and get incentives, but here we get nothing - it's kind of sad. It's hard to refuse, but we're people who believe we should put our business where we want to.

Skelitons

The sense of security that normally accompanies life in this small rural community has been shattered by recent events. Police efforts to keep a lid on publicity surrounding charges against an area resident have succeeded in re-enforcing the archaic belief that the ugly elements of society are best locked up like a skeleton in a dark closet.

The reluctance of police to provide information is understandable, if not admirable. This is, after all, a small community where public attention may cause yet more pain for the victims.

However, what the police policy fails to recognize is that the community as a whole is a victim. Our security has been shaken. Our wholesome and healthy country lifestyle has been tainted by "urban problems" and the stain sets itself more firmly into the fabric of this community with each whispered word.

The harsh reality is that we are not sheltered from urban horrors. Denying this helps foster the opportunity for events to be repeated.

Spirits

Doom and gloom aside, here's a tribute to what we love and cherish about life in the Highlands.

The caring spirit of rural life still thrives in centres throughout the Highlands as was evidenced at area community centres on Halloween night. The parties put on at community halls throughout the area is an indication that people in this area do care about their children, their neighbours and their community. These parties are organized annually by volunteers, whose efforts help unite their communities.

A Halloween party is just a small thing. However, it's the little things that count most. The little things all combine to make this county a very special place to live and to raise our children.

We may not be sheltered from urban problems, but we do have a caring rural character that would seem foreign to city dwellers.

Feds disregard small business

The following letter was included along with a subscription renewal.

Editor:

This abominable postal surcharge is another fine example of how little our government thinks of 'small' business. Has anyone pointed out to them that the 'Fortune 500' only account for 15 to 20 per cent of the United States Gross National Product? All the rest comes from small and medium size businesses.

Holliday-Rhodes feels member has conflict

Editor:

I agree totally with Bryan Kernohan's letter to the Planning and Development Committee last week.

If the committee and St. Joseph's Hospital Administrator Frank Lussing get their way, Haliburton will have direct access to 25 beds and Minden will have none.

Now to address the statements referred to in the Minden Times with reference to conflict of interest of some members of the committee. This week

I will address the membership of Doug Campbell.

Campbell has been on almost all the local committees concerned with this issue (apparently selected by fair and due process as stated by committee chairman Jack Brezina). He was on the Community Advisory Committee, the Steering Committee and is on the Planning and Development Committee.

I can find no record, nor have I heard him voice any objections to the proposed cut in services at Minden hospital.

Now, more than ever, he is in conflict. St. Joseph's Board will be (if it has not already done so), supporting or not supporting the proposal for the Minden hospital. It is looking to cut services in Minden as a way of reducing its deficit. As a member of the St. Joseph's Hospital Board and of the committee looking into health care on our behalf, how does Campbell propose to balance his loyalties?

Sonya Holliday-Rhodes, Minden.

Doctor objects to Minden Hospital relocation

Editor,

I was a member of the community advisory committee. I attended approximately two or three meetings (not many more than this were held).

I was disgusted at the time with what I felt was Frank Lussing's (St. Joseph's Hospital Administrator) attempt to railroad this committee by producing, on April 29, 1992, a proposal to relocate the Minden Hospital to Hyland Crest and I quote: "Minden Hospital relocation to Hyland Crest site will result in significant economies of scale.

These economies will more than offset 1992/93 operating shortfall for both Minden and Haliburton Hospitals.

As a member of this committee, I objected strongly to this proposed relocation. I have been a physician in Minden for more than 14 years and have a large number of seniors as patients. I thought it was despicable that this proposal would be put forward, since an emergency department attached to the senior citizens' home would have a negative impact on its residents and cause them considerable distress.

None of the other members, including the representatives from Haliburton and Doug Campbell from Minden, who is on the Board of Trustees of St. Joseph's Hospital, raised any objection.

This written proposal did not mention that the proposed relocation of the Minden hospital to Hyland Crest would not include the in-patient beds, (which subsequent information still shows would be abolished). However, Lussing made it clear at the meeting that the in-patient beds were not a part of the proposal and that there may be one or two "holding beds" only.

Holding beds are merely temporary beds, used to hold people, pending admission to another hospital, or to one's own in-patient bed, which of course we would no longer have. Therefore, we would not be able to do this. In other words, it was made quite clear that this new facility was not going to be what we all call a hospital. Instead, it would be a few emergency trolleys, and if we were really lucky, a couple of temporary holding beds.

Lussing's attempt in the Haliburton County Echo to imply that I supported such

Doctor wants assurance hospital will not be lost

Editor:

To set the record straight, weeks ago I attended a meeting of the Haliburton County Planning and Development Committee to read a letter from the doctors of Minden Hospital which indicated our unanimous opposition to the proposed medical facility attached to Hyland Crest.

I told them they would shortly receive a copy of my presentation signed by all the doctors and that they should send any questions to the doctors, whereupon the doctors would meet and formulate a joint response. Sonya Holliday-Rhodes indicated to me that she had made this point clear at a recent committee meeting. Unfortunately, her statement was reported wrongly.

Contrary to what is stated in the Oct. 27 Haliburton Echo, I spoke on behalf of all the doctors, but felt it inappropriate to answer personally on their behalf and that at a later meeting of the doctors we would address questions from the committee.

I have a more immediate and grave concern in that the conditions of some of my chronically ill patients have significantly worsened due to the stress generated by the thought of reduction of services at Minden Hospital, as they have indicated to me. It is imperative that the people of Minden immediately receive assurance in writing from St. Joseph's Hospital Administrator Frank

Lussing and from the members of the Planning and Development Committee that now and in the foreseeable future we will not lose our seven adult in-patient beds, our two pediatric cribs nor our emergency department trolleys and facilities - before any further suffering or carnage occurs.

I will be notifying Lussing and the committee of these concerns.

Dr. Irwin J. Asbell

Administrator's statements are 'ridiculous'

Little effort spent on finding ways to be more efficient in delivery of hospital services a proposal is ludicrous. I have to work in this community as a physician, and as a physician I have to endeavor to offer the best medical care I can. The care of my patients would be made more difficult for me with reduced facilities. As it is, unlike our city colleagues, we have no surgeons, internists, anesthetists, etc. at our disposal. Nor do we have the supportive equipment that goes with such specialists.

Yet we have to maintain a standard of care that satisfies our licensing college. It obviously follows that I would never support a reduction of the limited facilities we now have and jeopardize my patients and perhaps myself, by making it more difficult to maintain the standards required of me.

Lussing's information therefore is misleading and ridiculous.

My objections were reiterated at subsequent medical staff meetings, and in a presentation made by Dr. Irwin Asbell to the Planning and Development Committee.

Lussing formed a Fiscal Advisory Committee on which I was the elected member to represent the Minden doctors.

Again, at four meetings only, Lussing ran the show, talking so fast that one could hardly follow what he was saying. We discussed minor cost cutting measures at both hospitals. I was amazed to read in the Issue/Decision Summary papers what Lussing had concluded from these four meetings. I quote: "The bottom line: it is not possible to reduce the operating budgets of the two hospitals as currently organized by $363,000 without automatically affecting the quality and or quantity of services provided."

How could Lussing draw such conclusions from four meetings with doctors, nurses and x-ray technicians? Such conclusions to be fair have to be derived from indepth studies done by qualified experts. They could then determine whether we could reduce our deficit without having to eliminate our in-patient beds.

At no time did Lussing produce a detailed breakdown of the figures showing our deficit so that we could have them checked. What he produced was a simplified list of figures which were not substantiated by sufficient documentation. Neither did he explain how he decided how much money he allots to each hospital and its operations.

I now refer to the composition of these boards and committees. Just as the Fiscal Advisory Committee at that time required a broader base, not only nurses and doctors but financial advisers including access to external experts, so now does the Planning and Development Committee require more members from the medical profession (from Minden as there are already more Haliburton representatives on this committee, and it is our hospital in jeopardy).

In my opinion Lussing merely held these meetings as a superficial process to justify a foregone conclusion, that the Minden Hospital will be closed and replaced by an emergency facility only, attached to Hyland Crest, in order to balance his own budget.

In fact, he verified this at one of the early meetings of the Advisory Committee when he stated that "if they can do it in Burkes Falls then I can do it." (Close the hospital)

In order to satisfy the terms of reference of the Community Advisory Committee, he had to demonstrate firstly that the deficits to the hospitals in Haliburton and Minden could not be cut without affecting the quality and quantity of service. In my opinion, he did not make an honest effort to cut these deficits in other ways before concluding he would have to reduce services in Minden.

As a member of both the Community and Fiscal Advisory Committees, I shall complain to the relevant authorities that Lussing has advanced to the stage of having a feasibility study done to close our hospital and replace it with an emergency facility attached to Hyland Crest without properly attempting to cut the deficits by means that do not affect the quality and quantity of service according to the terms of reference of the Fiscal Advisory Committee.

In my opinion, the Fiscal Advisory Committee was a total farce, since all the members, except the physician from Haliburton and myself, were employees of St. Joseph's Hospital, and hence could hardly be expected to object to their employers initiatives.

It is becoming very obvious to me that this community has been set up to lose its hospital by the bureaucrats in Peterborough who dictate our health services.

A rose by any other name smells skunky

Just got back from a trip to Pile O' Bones, Saskatchewan.

Well, that's what the Indians used to call it. Wascana. It's Plains Cree for Pile O' Bones. When the white Men came to take over the place a couple of centuries ago, they decided the name lacked dignity, so they changed it to the drab and colourless and utterly tight-sphinctered sobriquet of 'Regina'.

I prefer Pile O' Bones. Much more picturesque.

Indeed, we Johnny-Come-Latelys owe the natives a lot for some of the more colourful, 'Canadian' place names we take for granted.

Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario - all native Indian names, or corruptions thereof. I grew up in a suburb called Etobicoke just a tomahawk throw from downtown Toronto. 'Etobicoke' is a Huron word for "land of the alders". "Toronto" is a word the Wyandot Indians used to mean "place of plenty".

Kamloops, Medicine Hat, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Mississauga - there's not a province in the country that doesn't immortalize the people who first knew this land. Quebec has an Iqaluit and a Maniwaki. New Brunswick has the magnificent Kouchibouguac which means "river of the long tideway" in Micmac. Nova Scotians call Antigonish and Pubnico home. Antigonish translates as "where the branches are torn off". Pubnico derives from a Micmac word meaning "dry sandy place".

Ever wonder where the 'Klondike' Gold Rush got its name? From an Athapaskan phrase which translates roughly as "hammer water". For centuries, nomadic tribes would camp on the shores of the river and hammer long wooden stakes into the river bed to trap salmon during the spring migration. Hence the name.

Speaking of spring migration, the month of May traditionally sees tens of thousands of Torontonians clogging the north-bound highways bound for their summer hideouts in Muskoka country. I wonder how many of them know that the name commemorates an ancient Ojibway chief by the name of Misquackkey? He ruled the place until British bureaucrats flim-flammed him into signing over the land rights back in 1815.

legacy unravels like a never-ending wampum belt.

Mind you, some times you get fooled. I spent some years in Northwestern Ontario partly because I fell in love with the wonderful Indian names that adorned the place. Shuniah, Nipigon, Batchawana...I particularly liked the name of a northern town called Nolalu. And a park I loved to canoe in: Quetico.

It was a couple of years before I discovered that 'Nolalu' was an acronym for a no-nonsense firm of tree haulers called Northern Lake and Lumber. Later I discovered that 'Quetico', is what was stamped on logs owned by the Quebec Timber Company.

You can't always believe your eyes. Take the town of Twillingate, out in Newfoundland. Was there ever a more English-sounding name? Twillingate. Virtually reeks of brollies and bowlers and stiff-upper-lippery, eh wot?

Well, not really. Turns out it derives from a French place name - Pointe de Toulanguet, in Brittany.

Well, how about that quintessential Indian name? The one used by the New York state city of...Buffalo? Sorry, Cocheese. The city actually gets its name from an Anglicized corruption of a French phrase - Beau Fleuve - which means 'beautiful river'.

Just as well we forgot that, I guess. Who'd ever pay to watch a football team called the Beautiful River Bills?

Highlands area is ideal location for this industry

"Now it's time that we can give something back. It's time to stay, not to run."

While many businesses shun the Haliburton area - it's too far from major markets, poor transportation and the lack of available government grants are common complaints - Heise says the area is near perfect for his business.

Strategically, the county is centrally located between several major markets, there are highways in all directions so there is no problem with freight and the taxes "aren't too bad" says Heise.

One major problem businesses have in locating here is the expected opposition from cottagers who do not want their environment spoiled. However, Heise says the production of his product creates no pollution and no waste except for cardboard. There are also no chlorofluorocarbons used in the insulated pipe.

Keeping a low profile is also important to Heise, not only in terms of keeping things firmly under his control, but also to keep unwanted investors out.

"One of my biggest fears is having moneyed people come in because they're everywhere and we don't want them," says Heise, who adds that this way his business can grow at a pace he wants it to.

A low profile also allows Heise to devote some time to developing other ideas of his own and others. There are a lot of spin-offs ideas from Heat-Line including keeping water tanks in the far north from freezing. To that end, he would like to see the company become more of a research and development vehicle.

"I've had other ideas, but the risk was too high and I couldn't see the pay-back coming fast enough.

"Without ideas, business in this country will die."

Somerville withdraws support for local quarry development

by Jerry Grozelle

Somerville Township Council has withdrawn its support for the creation of a new stone quarry and planned to ask Victoria County Council to do the same.

A large group of Dongola area residents attended Somerville Council's meeting on October 26 to voice their objection to a proposed stone quarry in their neighbourhood.

Ingram Wessell, owner of a 150-acre parcel of land on the south side of Highway 503, between the Base Line Road and Woodcock Line, received approval in principle to initiate the project by the previous council. The initial proposal was to take out a certain amount of limestone aggregate within defined parameters.

Marion Lee, representing area residents opposing the project, made a lengthy, in-depth presentation to council, requesting that the township withdraw its approval for the project.

Wessell has already been granted the blessing of the Victoria County Planning Board, which was to recommend that County Council give its approval at its meeting last week.

However, the go-ahead may be delayed or quashed. Somerville Council voted four to one in favour of a motion by Councillor Jack MacDonald to withdraw the township's approval in principle and for Reeve Huke to present the resolution to County Council. The dissenting vote was by Councillor Clayton Cameron, who would have preferred to have the results of Ministry of Environment and Ministry of Natural Resources impact studies verified before the proposal was rejected.

Deputy Reeve Sue Douglas reluctantly endorsed MacDonald's resolution, saying that in fairness to the developer, further study should be undertaken. However, since the issue was going before County Council two days later, she relented and voted yes.

Some of the concerns addressed by Marion Lee included: the safety of area children with the increased truck traffic that a quarry would create; dust and noise generated by trucks and blasting; the loss of aesthetic value, quality of life and property values in the area surrounding the quarry; the real need for another stone quarry in the area, and possible damage to the local water supply from blasting.

She said the noise would be from four to 19 decibels above Ministry of the Environment guidelines and that a traffic impact study should be required before the project is approved.

Scott Reesor, who owns a 100-acre parcel of land adjacent to the proposed quarry, urged council to consider the ramifications of a quarry in that area. He has plans to build a home on his property and currently has a cabin that he uses as a cottage. He also has 28 acres of his property planted with pine and spruce trees in co-operation with the Ministry of Natural Resources under the Woodland Improvement Program. He said he has been unable to get any answers from either the MNR or MOE regarding possible dust damage to the surrounding vegetation.

In endorsing MacDonald's motion to withdraw township approval, Councillor Gordon Carr noted that approval in principle is almost always granted so a developer can get things rolling.

Reeve John Huke said it would be poor planning to undermine the way of life of the surrounding residents.

Withdrawal of township support for the project at this stage does not necessarily mean that County Council will reject the applicant's proposal. On the surface, the County Planning Department seems satisfied that county guidelines would be met with minimal damage to the environment or disruption of the lives of the adjacent residents.

It will be up to County Council to decide whether further study of the proposition is required.

Co-op education benefits all involved

High school co-op program continues to prepare students to meet their future goals.

by Oliver Greer

The Co-operative education program, now in its seventh year at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, has helped many students gain work experience valuable when applying to colleges or universities or for future employment.

The program was started in 1985 by HHSS teacher Laura Wilson. When the program started the hardest part was finding employers because the program was relatively unknown, says Wilson.

In that first year there were nine students from all three levels (Advanced, General and Basic). Because of the low number of students the first year, Wilson says they really felt like a family and grew close as the year went by.

The students and Wilson also had a strong sense of being pioneers and were very conscious of the fact that their success or failure could decide the fate of the program in the future.

The program is now run by Chris Duchene who is in her fourth year as the program coordinator. The program has grown a great deal since its beginning and in each of the last three years has included between 20 and 25 students.

The students still range over all three levels of study though the majority come from the general level. Duchene says this is because business in the community focuses more on service industries rather than professional fields. Students in the advance level have also not been able to free four spots in their time tables because they have to concentrate on prerequisites for university admittance.

The students in the program are in school for half a day and are working in the community earning co-op credits for the other half.

Students must work 110 hours to earn one credit. Some of the students in school credits are linked to their job placement. For instance a student working in a garage may be taking auto shop or a student working for a veterinarian would probably take chemistry and biology. How this works out is that for half of the day (in School) the student learns theory, and for the other half (job placement) the theory is put into practice, says Duchene.

The program benefits the students by giving them experience for future employment or post secondary education. It could also help students gain admission to college or university.

The program also gives students a look at the real working world, says Duchene, and gives them a chance to see if the job suits them enough to make a career of it. The students get a look at the job before they commit themselves to years of post secondary education to pursue that particular field.

To the employer the program offers the chance to take an active role in a young person's education. The employer could also be grooming the young person for future employment. On top of this, the employer saves on labour costs.

The Big Game

The senior Haliburton Redmen football team take on the best team from Peterborough in the Kawartha final on Tuesday at the high school at 1:30 p.m.

Impressive

High school field hockey team has best season ever

by Oliver Greer

One of the most successful seasons the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Redmen field hockey team has ever had came to an end last Tuesday.

In the six league games played this year the team went undefeated with three wins and three ties. In fact, no opposing team was able to put the ball in the Redmen net throughout the regular season.

This awesome record allowed the team to advance to the Kawartha Championship Tournament at Peterborough Collegiate Vocational School (PCVS).

In the first round of play at the tournament HHSS leapt to an early lead over Adam Scott Collegiate (ASC) when Jen Bradford opened the scoring midway through the first half. The Redmen defence held strong until, with two minutes to play in the second half, ASC scored the first goal of the season against this strong defensive Redmen squad. This left the score at 1-1 at the end of the game.

In their next game Haliburton met Norwood District High. Although the Redmen dominated the action and came very close to getting on the board several times, they were unable to

by Andy Holloway

The Haliburton Highlands Redmen hockey team could soon be off to the site of the 1980 winter Olympic games for an international tournament.

Last Tuesday, the Haliburton Board of Education approved a proposal submitted by HHSS principal Peter Forgrave to allow students to participate in the Lake Placid high school hockey tournament.

Forgrave states in a letter to the board that the tournament "represents an exciting opportunity to demonstrate to our students that they can compete as equals outside of our immediate area."

The board also heard that there would be no cost to the board as the team would raise funds through the sale of season passes, advertising and individual contributions.

The only condition the board placed on the trip was that all students have proper insurance coverage before they left.

"If they don't have the insurance, they don't go. It's as simple as that," said Dysart trustee Wayne Wood.

The trip would take place December 3-6 and students would miss two full school days. Many Canadian high schools have attended the tournament in the past, including Lindsay's I.E. Weldon who have also won the tournament.

Hockey coach Ron Yake will now have to gain individual parental consent and gain entry into the tournament.

Who says we only publish photos of the offense. The senior Redmen will be in Haliburton on Tuesday to play for the Kawartha Championship. Special teams play will be important as demonstrated by the Redmen against Fenelon Falls Falcons two weeks ago. From left, Oliver Greer, Steve McCracken, Aaron Hie, Scott Walker and James Simmons zero in on a group of Falcons a Falcon fumble.

Two more steps to COSSA title

The Haliburton Redmen football teams are one victory away from going to the Central Ontario finals.

Both the juniors and seniors take on the best teams from the Peterborough area this week to determine who represents the Kawartha District division against the winners of the Bay of Quinte area. The winner of that game will be named Central Ontario (COSSA) champions.

In order for the senior Redmen to get to COSSA, they must first beat the winner of the Peterborough title game, either Crestwood Secondary School or Adam Scott Secondary School, on Tuesday.

The winner then moves to the COSSA game on Friday. If the Redmen win, the game will be played at HHSS. If they lose, their successful, and so far undefeated season ends.

The junior Redmen will also either face Crestwood or Adam Scott in the Kawartha finals which will be held in Peterborough on Thursday at 1:30 p.m.

If the Redmen win, then they are off to Belleville on November 11 to play for the COSSA championship.

Events make county a hot sports bed

It's rare when so many things in the sports world happen in or affect this county, but the past two weeks have seen some heart-stopping action for sports followers.

Kudos to both Haliburton Highlands Redmen football teams for winning their respective Kawartha West title. The Redmen displayed some fine spirit and ability in romping over much inferior teams during their six game league schedule.

Now the tough task of getting to be COSSA champions begins. Playing against high schools from larger centres, like Peterborough should prove to be an entertaining and challenging event. It is important to remember the Redmen have accomplished a rare double sweep of the Kawartha West and those triumphs should not go unnoticed.

Like Redmen coach Gary Brohman said about the season so far after their title-clinching win against Fenelon Falls two weeks ago, "It's rewarding and really exciting."

This Tuesday the seniors take their second step to COSSA on their home field, for a good time - be there.

Not to be forgotten are the good performances put in by the school's field hockey team and the gritty, if ultimately unsuccessful showing by the Redmen soccer teams. Sports plays a large part in the lives of many young people in this county and win or lose they have shown positive results.

Another winning team, the Toronto Blue Jays finally brought their long-suffering fans a World Series championship. Far from affecting just the Toronto area, the Jays' stretch drive put Canadians across the country and abroad on the edge of their seats.

Here in Minden, fans could be heard around the downtown area a-hootin'-and-a-hollerin' after the final out Saturday night. As well, official Jays' championship tees are flying out the door of Northland Sales.

Unfortunately, many did not get to see the final inning because a downed hydro line cut power to many areas of the county including Ingoldsby, Gelert and parts of Haliburton Village.

The Jays did more to unite this country, excepting those sour grapes who live in Mon-

Rantin' n' Ravin'

by Andy Holloway

treel, than any politician has done in the past 124 years. The response to the flag fiasco really showed the class this nation has. Can you imagine the uproar if any country dared to turn the 'Stars and Bars' upside down?

Speaking of politics, which is almost as much of a sport as baseball, America's pastime, is; not only did Canadians get a chance to gloat to America, the common man was able to gloat to our political elite who clearly pulled a Bill Buckner and let the final out scoot through their legs. Two victories for the average Canadian in one week - Wow.

A much more disquieting event occurred two weeks ago when a Minden bantam coach was rushed to St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto after a nasty spill on the ice.

The coach was not wearing a helmet at the time of the accident, but how many coaches ever wear a helmet - probably none. How many will wear a helmet as a result of the accident? Again, the answer is probably none.

However, the accident did underline the need for helmets at all times while on the ice. While many associated with the NHL advocate the non-use of helmets to reduce stick fouls and improve the game's image, the real reason to wear a helmet is getting obscured. In a fast rough game played on a 200 by 80 foot sheet of ice with sturdy wooden boards surrounding the perimeter, the slightest trip, or even a small divot in the ice, could prove fatal.

Calgary Flames defenceman Greg Smyth was the first player to use the new rule to take off his helmet two weeks ago and Bernie Nicholls, Haliburton's pride and joy, has signed a waiver form releasing the Edmonton Oilers from any liability if he doffs his hat. It seems a few professional hockey players have lost more than a few brain cells along the way and don't understand the simple equation; head meets ice means injury.

Helmets are obviously worthwhile for everybody, especially children, to wear at all times while on the ice. Hopefully that point has been driven home.

Hartwick, Home Hardware tie in men's hockey action

After a blow-out loss the previous week, The Times crushed Sid Stamp 8-5 in Minden Men's hockey action last Monday.

Led by a two goal performances from Tom Haley, Eldon Bull and Dennis McKee, The Times won its first game of the season to square up its record at one and Sid Stamp dropped its second straight and is winless on the season.

At one point in the first period Sid Stamp was ahead 4-1 and it looked like another bombing of The Times was ahead. However, Haley scored the final goal of the first period and the first goal of the second period to start a string of six straight goals for The Times.

Also scoring for The Times were Mike Keaney, and Dave McKay. Scoring for Sid Stamp were Brent Flood with a pair, Dave Dollo, Scott Hamilton and Brian Marquette.

Hartwick and Home Hardware, both winners in first week action and tied for first place, played to a 4-4 standstill. Home Hardware had the lead twice in the game, but Hartwick battled back to tie it on each occasion. Frazer Rogers scored the games final goal to keep Hartwick undefeated on its season.

Home Hardware was led by Jeff Howe who scored three goals including his team's fourth to put Home Hardware briefly up by one in the second period. Tim Hunter scored the only other goal for Home Hardware.

Four different players scored for Hartwick - Rogers, John Teljur, Gary Harrison and Andy Campbell.

In the night's first game, KDD squared its record at 1-1 with a hard fought 5-3 victory over Westside.

After pulling ahead 3-1 in the first period, with goals from Jeff Stamp, Ivan Ingram and Andy McKenzie, KDD hung on to win as Westside made its comeback attempt in the second.

Each time Westside pulled to within one goal, KDD scored to restore its two goal margin. Stamp with his second on the night and Scott Murison potted goals for KDD while Steve Crowe and Rick Anderson netted markers for Westside. Craig Crowe of Westside scored the game's first goal in a losing effort.

Future games:

November 16: Westside vs. Home Hardware @ 8 p.m., Hartwick vs. The Times @ 9 p.m., KDD vs. Sid Stamp @ 10 p.m.

All games are played at the Minden arena.

Pee-wees off to a good start

The bantam Minden Monarchs first game of the season was a 4-1 victory over Woodville at home on Wednesday, October 14. In the first period, Tom Bagshaw started the season off with a great goal on a pass from Curtis Fielding. Half-way through the second period Woodville got its only shot past goalie Justin Rowden. Two minutes later Minden scored again when Rob Reid fired one in on an assist from Dave Raback. Jeff Wray and Dave Raback finished off the scoring in the third period.

Two days later, the Monarchs took on Beaverton at the arena. The game was a hard-hitting, aggressive affair with Beaverton picking many penalties. Minden's only goal in a 3-1 loss was scored late in the third period by Scott Bailey, assisted by Andrew Crego.

For the third straight game the Monarchs played at home, this time against Ops on Saturday, October 24. The Monarchs shut-out Ops 4-0 in a fast-paced game. In the first period, Marty Dettman scored a quick goal, assisted by Aaron Belton, to start the game off right for the Monarchs. Chris Eskelin scored an unassisted goal later in the period with a blistering slapshot.

Mid-way through the second period, Tom Bagshaw scored off of a face-off. Dave Raback chalked up one more for the Monarchs with an assist to Bagshaw and goalie Justin Rowden who played an outstanding game with a little help from the defensive corps.

We just want to say to our coach Tim Woods, who was hurt at practice, that we are thinking of you and your family and we wish you a complete and speedy recovery.

Bantam Monarchs' home games are at 4:30 p.m. on Saturdays. Come out and cheer us on.

score in this very competitive match. Luckily the defence once again presented the opposition with an insurmountable wall as the Norwood team was denied a goal. As the final whistle sounded the two teams remained deadlocked at 0-0.

With two ties under their belts the HHSS squad advanced to the third round of play against PCVS. The winner of this game would be awarded third place in the tournament and the chance to compete in the Central Ontario finals.

As the action began PCVS proved to be the most challenging team the Redmen had faced. Although they were a strong team, Peterborough was held scoreless as the Haliburton defence once again proved to be indomitable. This was due partly to outstanding goaltending by Bobbi Griffin.

As regulation play ended the score remained tied at 0-0.

The score remained tied throughout the first overtime half with both teams failing to capitalize on their scoring opportunities. During the second half the Redmen defence gave up its only goal of the year as PCVS scored to defeat the Redmen.

Although they didn't bring home the championship, the HHSS field hockey team had an outstanding season, finishing fourth overall in Kawartha out of 13 teams.

This feat is exceptionally impressive considering the size of some of the schools and the fact that six of the schools field both a junior and a senior team. This means that the Redmen who have only five seniors on the team were up against several other teams consisting completely of senior players.

PASSing grades

Tutoring service has older students helping students with their courses

Tutoring has existed in Hal High for years, however it has never been as organized and efficient as it will be this year.

A new idea which has been brought into the school this year is the PASS (Peer Assistance for Students Success) Team. The program consists of a group of above average senior students (11, 12 and OAC) who volunteer their time to be tutors to assist students in grades nine and ten who are experiencing difficulty with their courses.

The PASS Team members were trained by the guidance department personnel, Mr. A. Oakly and Mrs. C. Duchene, who, through formal lessons, instructed these tutors on everything from developing helping relationships to communication skills. The peer tutors finished this course on October 20 and are now ready to assist anyone who needs help.

The service is offered to all who request it up to the number of available tutors. The fee for this service is anywhere from free to five dollars an hour. The actual payment will be negotiated.

Should a student choose to get assistance through this program, both the tutor and the student must sign an agreement to document the period of time and regulations of the guidance department.

The time and place of the meetings is between a student and their tutor will be left up to the two of them to decide. Many rooms are available before and after school and during lunch.

Although this is a trial year for the PASS Team, the instructors have high hopes for the future, including a possibility of making peer tutoring a credit course for the peer helpers.

This is a program which a student should take advantage of if they need assistance. When I met with these students they all seemed very capable and enthusiastic about helping students who need it.

If you are a student who would like to know more about the program or if you are a parent who is interested, please contact the guidance office at Hal High. It may mean the difference between passing and failing.

Award recognizes long-time volunteers

Lescarbot Award recognizes commitment of Canada's 200,000 cultural volunteers

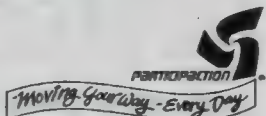

As part of the Canadian government's efforts to support the cultural sector, the Department of Communications on June 27, 1991, initiated the Cultural Volunteer and Benefactor Recognition Program, to be known as the "Lescarbot Award".

Named in honour of Canada's first cultural volunteer, Marc Lescarbot, the purpose of the award is to pay tribute to all those Canadians who support our culture and heritage through their contribution as volunteer or benefactor and to recognize the merit of their personal commitment to the community and Canada as a whole.

The Lescarbot Award program recognizes the work and commitment of the more than 200,000 volunteers in Canada's cultural sector, and their yearly efforts which are valued at more than $180 million. In addition, this program honours the benefactors of the cultural sector, whose contributions in 1990 were estimated at close to $50 million.

The Lescarbot Award attempts to reach as many cultural volunteers and benefactors as possible, in all areas of the country and all levels of participation - from rural areas to urban centres, from those involved with small organizations to those involved on a national scale. That is why there are three levels to the Lescarbot Award: Canadian, Regional and Community honours.

The first component, called the "Canadian Honours", is for those who have made an outstanding and sustained voluntary contribution to the Canadian cultural sector for a period of at least 10 years and especially during the year for which the candidate is nominated. A Canada-wide selection committee, consisting of representatives of the national cultural sector, considers all nominations and makes recommendations to the Minister of Communications. The two award winners, one volunteer and one benefactor, each receive the Lescarbot Trophy and medal, as well as a pin and a certificate, in recognition of their contribution.

Look Who's 49

Gotcha!

Kathy, Sharron, Candy & Debbie

Report from Ottawa

from the office of Bill Scott, MP

"Regional Honours" are given to 36 Canadians who have shown outstanding dedication through their voluntary contribution to the cultural sector for at least five years and particularly during the year for which they are nominated. Eighteen volunteers and 18 benefactors, based on provincial and territorial boundaries and population, are selected. Five regional selection committees consisting of representatives from the cultural sector consider all nominations and make recommendations to the Minister of Communications. Those selected received a medal, a pin and a certificate in recognition of their contribution to culture in their province or territory.

The final and most out-reaching level, the "Community Honours", is for volunteers and benefactors from every community in Canada who have contributed to the cultural sector for at least three years and especially during the year in which the candidate is nominated. In each federal electorate district, a selection committee considers nominations and makes recommendations to the MP. One volunteer and one benefactor from each riding are eligible to receive a pin and a certificate in recognition of their contribution.

The deadline for nominations is November 30. For Canadian and Regional Honours, sponsors in our area should send their nominations to Communications Canada, Public Affairs, 55 St. Clair Ave., Toronto, Ontario, M4T 1M2, (416) 973-7175. For Community Honours, nominations should be sent to my Ottawa office, House of Commons, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0A6.

Police briefs

Three drown in Elephant Lake boating accident

During the week of Oct 12 to 19, Minden OPP investigated the following incidents:

Thefts around the county

Dysart Township - a yellow Likitty log splitter with a blue motor
Banks Store in Haliburton - 15 cartons of cigarette, three cartons of pouch tobacco, two cans of tobacco and three cartons of cigarette tubes

Assault

John Trimming, 47, of Brampton has been charged with assault after police investigated a domestic complaint on October 12. Trimming is scheduled to appear in Provincial Court in Minden on November 4.

Stolen cars

Late on October 17, a light brown 1982 GMC S150 pick-up truck (RP9888) was stolen from a residence in Blairhampton. About one hour after the initial report, the truck was located on Scotch Line Rd. East, not far from a 1986 blue Chevette (OKJ705) which had been stolen in Bancroft on October 14. Another vehicle, a four door red 1989 Nissan Sentra was stolen from the Blairhampton area during the evening of October 17. The Sentra has not been found.

Multiple drowning

Three men drowned after the boat they were travelling in capsized in rough water on Elephant Lake on Saturday, October 17. Leo Oulette Jr., 37, of Toronto, Steven Busch, 31, of Toronto and Glen Fotherby, 42, of Rexdale failed to return to the cottage they were staying at on Saturday. Friends reported them overdue to police and a search commenced. The 14 foot aluminum boat they were in was found overturned on Elephant Lake.

Police divers found two of the three men on Monday apparently drowned. A search for the third person continued on Tuesday and he too was found in Elephant Lake. The cause of death in each case has been determined as drowning. Life jackets were found in the overturned boat, but none of the victims were wearing one.

Seniors entertained by singer Jock Mavor

On Saturday, October 17, Jock Mavor entertained us with a variety of old songs of several countries and played on his Omnichord as he sang. The residents, as well as visitors, really enjoy and appreciate this break in our weekend. Thank you Jock.

Rev. John Burgess conducted the Sunday night chapel service and carried the singing beautifully without the organ music. This is very hard on him so we would appreciate anyone who can play, offering their service. Thank you John.

I had a very happy surprise Sunday night when my grandchildren Kevin and Claudia came to see me from Grassy Narrows.

Monday we had a game of trivia in the afternoon. There were no movies shown in the evening.

Tuesday chapel service was conducted by Doris Robertson and Linda Fry. We were happy when Doris returned Monday after five weeks of illness.

Since Doris and Linda were attending the Activities Conference in Brantford, we were sort of on our own, but Gregg Sawyer did a good job carrying on with our program.

Thursday tea party was provided by the Women's Institute of Minden. They served a delicious tea. Nancy Gayton played the piano during the tea. Those who attended included Mary Cox, Mabel Deacon, Jean Cox, Maude Coulter, Nancy Gayton and Jean Lacey. We thank the ladies sincerely for the tea and Nancy for the delightful music.

Congratulations to Robert (Bob) Mitchell on having his 93rd birthday on October 22, 1992.

The Grandfathers' 4 supplied the entertainment for Happy Hour. Everyone is glad to have them play for us. They are Bill Payne, Eldon Deacon and Charlie Hadley. The attendants were Ellen Holden on bar and Dotti Muirhead who tended to everyone. Our hearty thanks to musicians, volunteers and Gregg Sawyer for coordinating it all.

File #RDA-1/91

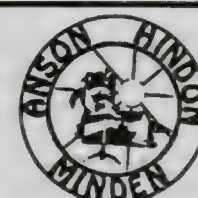

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Municipal Corporation of the Township of Lutterworth, proposes to enact a by-law to stop up, close and convey to the abutting property owners a portion of the original allowance for road set out and described as follows:

FIRSTLY: ALL and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Lutterworth, in the County of Haliburton and being composed of part of the original sixty-six foot allowance for road, lying between Concessions 12 & 13, Lot 5, and being more particularly described as Parts 1 & 2 on a Plan deposited in the Registry Office for the Registry Division of the County of Haliburton as Plan 19R-5592.

THE PROPOSED BY-LAW will come before the said Council for consideration at its Regular Meeting at the Municipal Office to be held at the County of Haliburton Board Room on Newcastle Street, Minden, Ontario on the 19th day of November, 1992, at the hour of 7:00 p.m. and at that time, the Council will hear in person or by his or her counsel, solicitor or agent any person who claims that his or her land will be prejudicially affected and who applies to be heard.

DATED at the Township of Lutterworth this 19th day of October, 1992.

CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF ANSON, HINDON AND MINDEN

NOTICE OF PASSING RE: BY-LAW NO. 92-55

Being a By-law to amend By-law No. 86-26 and rescind By-law No. 88-54,
Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden.

Please take notice that on the 22nd day of October, 1992, Council of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden passed By-law No. 92-55. An explanation of the purpose and effect of this By-law is outlined below. Anyone having an objection to this By-law must file a letter to the Clerk outlining the reasons for the objection, not later than the 22nd of November, 1992. A true copy of the By-law is available for review in the Municipal Office during regular office hours.

Purpose of the By-law

By-law No. 92-55 replaces By-law No. 88-54 with a new By-law to provide clarification of the Floodway and Floodproofing Zones and minimum opening elevations.

By-law 88-54 amended the Townships' Comprehensive Zoning By-law, being By-law 86-26 by adding a Floodproofing (FP) and Floodway Zone (FW) and showing these zones on two maps, Schedule I or Schedule X. By-law 92-55 replaces Schedule I and Schedule X with a series of maps identified as Schedule O. These Schedules are copies of the original mapping showing the floodway and floodfringe areas prepared by the Ministry of Natural Resources. The maps are at a larger scale than the original maps to the By-law and show buildings and other physical features that enable persons reading the map to more accurately define the limits of the floodplain.

Effect of the By-law

The By-law has no effect on the application of Zoning By-law, No. 86-26 in the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden. It does not change the zoning on any lands within the floodplain nor does it affect the minimum opening elevation which have been applied to new buildings built within the floodplain within the provisions of By-law No. 86-26.

Lands Affected by the By-law.

This By-law affects the lands within the Village of Minden along the Gull River. The maps are of a large scale; and therefore have not been provided; however, they are available for review in the Municipal Offices, 7 Milne Street, during regular office hours.

Dated at the Township of Minden this 2nd day of November, 1992.

Residents thrilled with Jays World Series win

The halls of Staanworth Court are rather quiet now that the baseball season is over and the Blue Jays are the big winners. The cheers and groans are stilled and the residents are now getting ready for the fun of "Trick or Treat" children coming to our door.

Marg. Graham of the VON paid a visit and brought us up to date on the drugs we take, when and why. She urged us to always check with the doctor or pharmacist and not to leave any question unanswered. A question period followed the presentation and those present were grateful to receive the information.

We were happy to welcome Bill O'Brien back from the hospital and hope he continues his speedy recovery. The barbecue equipment has finally been packed away and the dart board is being dusted off in preparation for the fall and winter pastime. Friday euchre games have carried on over the summer and will be better attended now the ball game season is over.

"Do we know that happiness is a way of travel not a destination".

Festive season begins

Stanhope Seniors have been busy with well attended luncheon meetings. Guest speakers dealt with popular subjects like "Yes or No". "Why you should have a will" and "You and your taxes", not to mention the regular activities - every Tuesday, Bridge at 1 p.m. and at the same time, Indoor shuffleboard (this week if you are a beginner, we will teach you how to play and enjoy the game all winter.)

Thursday morning is set aside for the very popular line dancers. Every second Wednesday there is Bid euchre at 7:30 p.m. All activities are at the Fire fighters' Hall on Northshore Road. We nearly forgot to tell the seniors' tennis has ceased until May 1 next year (we could have played all winter but couldn't find any black balls!)

Now, the official opening of the winter Festive Season, Monday November 19 at 12 noon "Lunch Plus". After lunch, a matinee, "Let the Good Times Roll". President Dale Anthes is going to "break a leg" to entertain you with a sing-a-long and some of the best stories from his lifetime collection of an Innkeeper. It's food and fun, all in one. Only $3 for members, others $5 (You can join for just $5 and it may last forever). Please reserve now (we have to know if you're coming) 754-3457. Mark your calendar, a great time guaranteed.

IN MEMORIAM

ROWDEN, LAURA: In loving memory of a dear granddaughter who left us November 2, 1985.
Resting where no shadow's fall,
In peaceful sleep she waits us all,
God will link the broken chain,
When one by one we will meet again.
Sadly missed and loved always,
Gram and Ken.

IN MEMORIAM

SEARS, MILTON GEORGE: In loving memory of our dear father, grandfather and great grandfather who passed away November 4, 1987.
It's been five long years since you passed away,
And I miss you a little bit more each day.
Life is a struggle we all must face,
And I wish you were here to ease the pace.
Always remembered and always loved by daughter Carolyn and family.

IN MEMORIAM

SEARS, MILTON GEORGE: In loving memory of my dear husband who died November 4, 1987.
To some you may be forgotten,
To others a part of the past.
But to me who loved and lost you,
Your memory will always last.
Always there in my heart and loved, Jeanne
